My Life in Colours

2020

When I look up at the starry sky...

...I feel infinite.

Are my emotions just reflecting the world
outside?

Impossible! When I am dreaming I feel as colourful
as a million butterflies.

When I am pensive, I turn
pine green.

When I am curious, I feel
fresh as a lemon.

When I am joyful, I sparkle like a shimmering
flame. When I am dancing, there is a golden glow all around me.

When I am brave, a triumphant red
warms me.

When I am
playing, I glitter
pinkish.

When I am
somersaulting,
I light up in a velvety purple...

... and when
I am jumping
I feel skyblue and wide.

But when I am scared...

...I become small and dark.

Then I remember all my rainbow colours...

...and their dazzle scares
away the monster.

Maybe I can be like my piano...

...and play my emotions
like music?

If I learn to compose
the music inside me...

...will I be free?

A colourful journey
through the landscape of feelings.
